The Stewardship Network 56-2471470 Form 990, Part I, Line 1 Continued: 2022 Successes: The Stewardship Network (TSN) carried forward its mission and impact as part of an updated program service offering and continued to support collaborative ecological stewardship work. This work brings together like-purposed people to work across jurisdictional and property ownership boundaries, forms new [sometimes unconventional] partnerships, and harnesses our collective power to take care of the environment. TSN's place-based collaboratives, called Member Communities (MCs), continued and expanded their work on natural area restoration and stewardship, with complementary learning and engagement programs for individuals in their areas. The Member Community program offers operational support, leadership trainings, and peer-to-peer learning opportunities for each MC Coordinator. In 2022, TSN also introduced a new initiative, Gloves for Good, which diverts lightly used work gloves out of the waste stream and established a way to clean and distribute them throughout our network. The work gloves are available for free, which is a huge benefit to recipients, as that is a constant requirement for on the ground stewardship activities. In 2022, The Stewardship Network also expanded its geographic range by taking on new Member Communities in California. Form 990, Part III, Line 4b Continued: The 2022 Stewardship Network Conference, held virtually in January, connected, educated, and inspired over 268 natural areas stewards from across North America. Presenters and participants came from a wide array of backgrounds, including private landowners, tribal members, government agency representatives, professional land managers, researchers, students, and more. This interdisciplinary conference continued its superb track record as one of the premier natural areas restoration conferences in the region. while involving an even greater diversity of presenters and participants than in previous years. Subject matter included advancements in ecological research, new tools and technologies, and collaborative processes. The 2022 Stewardship Network Spring Challenge logged its greatest level of engagement in program history (work hours reported) and connected

| collaborative conservation campaign. At the end of the 2022 Challenge, 7,133 individuals | |
| reported 36,735 hours of stewardship, removing invasive species, cleaning up natural areas, | |
| participating in restoration efforts, and otherwise improving the ecological health of | |
| important landscapes. Furthermore, the 2022 Challenge marks an impressive economic impact: | |
| volunteers reported 36,735 hours of donated time in the field, creating an enormous benefit to | |
| local governments, organizations, and private landowners. The 2022 value of volunteer hours, | |
| which is updated annually by the Independent Sector, was $31.80 per hour, providing a | |
| benchmark for the Challenge's volunteer economic impact, which comes out to $1,168.173. |  |
| Ultimately, the 2022 Challenge connected ecological stewards across the United States and | |
| Canada, elevated enthusiasm for caring for natural areas, and also provided a snapshot of the | |
| immense impact that seemingly little actions can make when many people pull together for the | |
| health and preservation of natural areas. The Stewardship Network's monthly webcasts continued |   |
| to grow in popularity in 2022, attended by natural areas professionals, researchers, students, | |
| volunteers, and landowners from around the world. In 2022, attendees were able to engage with | |
| presenters and new information in real time. Presentations included a range of topics | |
| including invasive species control, natural resource legislation changes, and best practices | |
| for natural areas management. Webcast recordings and additional information are available to | |
| the public on The Stewardship Network website. In 2022, TSN introduced a new program, Gloves | |
| for Good, which diverts lightly used work gloves out of the waste stream and established a way | |
| to clean and distribute them throughout our network. The work gloves are available for free, | |
